Tutoring Experience

Over the past 5 years, I have had the privilege of tutoring students across different curriculums, including IB, A-Level, and IGCSE. My focus has been on helping students master challenging mathematical concepts, such as calculus and linear algebra, while also guiding them through their exam preparations.

I've worked closely with students to ensure they not only improve their grades but also develop a deeper understanding of mathematics. My students come from diverse backgrounds and have excelled in their exams under my guidance, with many progressing to study at top universities.

Through my teaching, I aim to foster a supportive environment where students feel comfortable tackling difficult topics. My approach has consistently led to improved academic performance, with students gaining the confidence to pursue advanced studies in mathematics and related fields.
