Tutoring Experience

Over the past 18 years, I've had the opportunity to work with students from a wide range of educational systems, specializing in IB Chemistry and A-Level Chemistry. I've guided students through complex chemical concepts, ensuring they are well-prepared for their exams. My students have gone on to excel in various global universities, with many scoring highly in both their coursework and exams.

In addition to IB and A-Level Chemistry, I've also provided tutoring for IGCSE and AP Chemistry, helping students navigate their curriculums with ease. Through my teaching, I focus on solidifying foundational knowledge that enables students to tackle advanced topics, including organic chemistry, physical chemistry, and thermodynamics. Many of my students have developed a strong passion for chemistry, pursuing further studies in top global institutions.

Beyond tutoring, I also work closely with parents to ensure their child's progress is aligned with academic goals. I believe in fostering an encouraging environment that allows students to ask questions and develop their curiosity about the subject. Through consistent communication and tailored support, I have helped numerous students succeed.
